"Philip is one of those rare gems in a sea of transformation specialists that can help leaders vision what's around the corner and cultivate the critical human skills to get there."

Stephen Terry

Practice Director Navint Consulting

"Philip is a leading big picture thinker who knows what it takes to make change happen, and persist. His approach brings a powerful insight into behavior and culture change, supported by a solid understanding of business effectiveness. Having Philip around makes things better."

Laura Engelhardt

Head of Strategy Foundational Technologies SIEMENS

"Philip is an outstanding coach and inspirational leader very rare to find. Philip is humble enough to take a step back while at the same time pushing the edge of what is possible. He is leading from behind and masters the art of creating space for others to rise for greater impact. He draws from deep knowledge and understanding of building bridges between the human factor and technological as well as societal developments. With his curious mind, Philip is constantly at the edge of the next level, the greater impact, the even deeper understanding – a true creator of emerging futures."

Daniel Nowack

Head of Social Entrepreneurship World Economic Forum

"Philip is an exceptional human being. He brings in an incredible depth on highly relevant topics for the new age, such as Organisational Culture, Purpose and Innovation. His ability to distill and navigate the main issues even during the most difficult situations is unrivalled. He moderates tricky situations and always has an eye out for the greater good. Beyond his strong human touch, Philip thinks in systems and processes to develop long-lasting, repeatable concepts for real change in organisations. It was an absolute pleasure to work with Philip – you've missed out if you haven't yet."
